

Evangelical voters gave the election to George W. Bush in 2000 & 2004. They are a bigger voting bloc than Blacks or Hispanics. What did they do in 2008?

Election 2010: Surprising trends among Evangelical voters

You're invited to a special presentation by Craig Huey who will go over the Evangelical voting for 2008 and the surprising trends for the upcoming 2010 election among evangelical voters. You'll see why this voting bloc holds the key for the Democrats or Republicans... and what can be done to secure and enhance their vote.

In this concise, fast-paced overview you'll discover:

- Craig A. Huey,
Coordinator and speaker for Election Forum.org
- What will Evangelicals do with the governor and senate votes in 2010?
 - Little-known trend: Christianity and the free market.
 - What Evangelical voters might do with the Democratic Congress—and the other Republican candidates.
 - Voting your values vs. voting tradition: The emerging disconnect.
 - The #1 blunder Republicans can make in 2010.
 - The biggest stumbling block...and the biggest hope for Republican and the Evangelical vote.
 - A Christian world perspective: What conservatives and libertarians have in common.
 - The political marketing challenge of 2010—how Republicans can win over the Evangelical vote.
 - How big is the California Evangelical vote? What is its potential?
 - The difference between Evangelicals and Born Again Christians...and its impact in 2010.
 - What issues are most important to Christians...and which are not.
 - What Evangelical pastors can do to help or hurt Republicans.
 - The Evangelical Hispanic and Black vote...how Republicans can win with it.

Craig Huey is the publisher of the Reality Alert newsletter (California Christian worldview ezine) and president of the ElectionForum.org, LAVoterGuide.com and JudgeVoterGuide.com websites.

Owner of two successful businesses, Mr. Huey has spoken to thousands of Evangelical voters about the 2008 election. He is heard on California Christian radio stations KKLA, KBRT and KWVE for his election recommendations and interviewed on FOX.

DATE: [TBD]

PLACE: [TBD]

TIME: [TBD]

SPEAKER: Craig Huey